

Sinc Indiana passed the "no call list" legislation, we have been able to have dinner without being disturbed by 4 or 5 telemarketers. Since we requested to be added to Indiana's no call list, we have had only two or three sales calls, thoes being from people whoo did not know about the law.

Any action by the FCC that would undertmine the effectiveness of Indiana's no call legislation would reduce our quality of life. We think the FCC should look to Indiana to guide it in formulating a national standard.

My hat is off to Steven Carter, Indiana Attorney General, for providing a regulation that truly helps Indiana residents.

Sincerely

Richard E. and Judith C. Petermichel
